

Homeless shelter raises concerns for City of Irvine

By LISA BICKNELL
CV&T News Editor

Helping Hands Ministry's proposed homeless shelter met with some opposition during Irvine's Monday night council meeting. Bobby Muncie, who lives next door to the River Drive Christian Church property where the shelter is scheduled to open, said "That is the last thing that neighborhood needs."

The homeless shelter was to begin opening on February 21st, and be open from 7 p.m. to 7 a.m. on nights when the temperature dipped below freezing.

However, City Attorney Rodney Davis said there would likely be "some zoning issues," and that a business license of some kind would likely be required. He said he did not know for sure, because he was not aware the shelter was about to open.

Pastor Paul Groves from the River Drive Christian Church arrived late to the meeting, but he had more details about the plans for the shelter. He said the shelter will provide a couple of warm meals and a bed to homeless residents whenever the temperatures go below freezing.

He also said there would be two people supervising those housed at the shelter, with different churches providing vol-

Asbestos, lead-based paint found in Ravenna remodels

By LISA BICKNELL
CV&T News Editor

Bryan Kirby, administrator of the Ravenna Scattered-Site Homeowner Rehabilitation Project Phase 2, said asbestos and lead-based paint were found in four of the Ravenna houses which are to be remodeled. The one house that was tested for lead paint was found to contain it.

A resolution was read and passed for Wireman Construction and Excavation, LLC., to remove the asbestos and lead-based paint.

Kirby said WCE was the only one of the three firms contacted to submit a bid, but they have the required certifications.

"They have to show up with the insurance first," he said.

Louis Officer attended the meeting and asked Kirby what would be done with the asbestos and other hazardous materials.

Kirby said there are very "precise procedures," to be followed for its removal, and the company would have to provide landfill receipts.

When asked if the material will end up in the local landfill, Kirby said he "suspects" it will, that he thinks the landfill has the necessary permits, but he isn't sure.

Removal of the substances will cost $13,470.

Kirby also presented Resolution 3 to the Ravenna City Council on Monday night. The document lists expenditures to be paid in full upon receipt of Community Development Block Grant funds.

The expenses were incurred between the first of November and January 1, and included an invoice from Air Source Technology for asbestos and lead-based paint testing, an invoice from CEDA, reimbursement to

Teammates sign for different colleges on National Signing Day

By Lee Freeman
Special to the CV&T

National Signing Day 2015 came and went for most of the world, but it was a day never to be forgotten for some exceptional young athletes from right here in Estill County. Seniors Taylor Tate and Trevor Jones both signed National Letters of Intent to play college football. Tate signed with the University of Pikeville and Jones signed with Morehead State University.

Taylor and Trevor have been giving it their all on the football field since the Estill County Youth Football League started. These talented student athletes have toughed it out since the start of their young careers back in 2003. The VFW sponsored the first flag football team and Chris "Hopper" Osborne was their first coach.

Coach Hopper said, "I have worked many years with both of these young men and I couldn't be any prouder. As a coach, your players become like sons to you. Trevor and Taylor are like sons to me. They never had any "quit" in them. I am proud of their accomplishments."

Richard Johnson, first President of ECYFL, stated it was always about the kids.

"The reason myself and all the other parent volunteers started the ECYFL was to help enrich the lives of young athletes with hopes to instill the value in them that hard work and dedication pays off. Trevor and Taylor are fine examples of all the hard work it takes to succeed."

These young men have shared more than just football together. From family vacations, fishing trips, hunting, a little frog gigging, and even sitting out an entire football season, they have done it together. The first game of the season their sophomore year against Breathitt County, both players suffered what could have been career ending injuries. Jones had to undergo reconstructive knee surgery and Tate had to undergo surgery for a torn ACL. The two could only watch from the sidelines while propped up on their crutches for that entire season. They were both determined fighters who would not let one game against rival Breathitt stop them. They returned their junior years stronger than before and had a point to make-they would let nothing stand in the way of their dreams.

"It was always a dream, but this dream came unteers as needed.

Both sexes would be not be allowed to be housed in the shelter together. If both male and female sought shelter on the same night, one would be housed in the basement of the church and the other in the shelter building.

Groves also said domestic abuse cases would be sent out of county.

Attorney Davis maintained that he doesn't think the shelter can open without some sort of license, although he did acknowledge that shelter organizers might have obtained something from the state.

The council agreed to ask Debbie Rison with Helping Hands Ministry and Jack Rivel, planning and zoning administrator, to come to city hall to discuss obtaining all the proper permits.

In other business, Mayor W.J. Noland asked the opinion of the council on purchasing a new truck for the city.

Mayor Noland said, "I just don't think we can continue to pay mechanics to work on the old truck."

Noland has obtained estimates from Ford and Chevy dealers and said he was waiting to hear from a Dodge dealer.

He said the city could pay for the truck with Municipal Aid funds, but they would have to pay 20 percent of it back.

Noland also said White and Associates had called and said if they didn't make it to the meeting, they would call Tuesday morning and would soon get started on the 2010-11 audit.

Councilwoman Nelle Williams wondered what the new firm would be charging, and how that compared with what the former firm got for "doing nothing."

Noland said White charges $9,750 a year, and the former auditing firm charged $9,500.

Williams asked when they would cut ties with the old firm, and Noland said they already have.

Around the table, Irvine City Clerk Robin Powell brought requests for two privilege licenses before the council.

One was from Tom and Carol Boyken to open a business at 331 River Drive selling crafts and new and used tangibles. The Boykens also stated that they hoped to set up temporary living quarters in the back of the business.

The other was for Anthony Taylor, who requested a license to open a small engine repair shop at 187 Broadway.

After some discussion, the privilege licenses were granted to both.

Williams said she would like two or three council members to get together to discuss a scale for privilege license fees based on the number of people they would employ, etc.

Marty York and Randy Brown were recommended to the Planning and Zoning Board.

The mayor also said he would like to ask the Mushroom Festival to help pay for overtime costs to law enforcement and city workers who work the festival weekend. He said those costs amounted to $8,400 last year. The council agreed that they should ask the Festival to help foot the bill.

The next meeting of the Irvine City Council is scheduled to be on February 23 at 7 p.m. at Irvine City Hall.

CEDA for storage at Webb Rentals, and rent for four of the homeowners that had to be relocated.

The total amount requested by CDBG was $10,175.

Kirby also said he will soon have a list of contractors, and the council can vet the bidders and select contractors, possibly before the March meeting.

The financial report was accepted, but before it was, Councilwoman Sharon Snowden wondered why payroll was considerably higher in December than it was in January.

Mayor Estine Tipton said three city workers had received $200 bonuses of appreciation. She also said she found out it was illegal for her not to accept her full salary, so she stopped accepting only a partial salary once she found out the requirements of the law.

The police report was accepted, with Fire Chief David Harvey reporting that there had only been one report of fire and that was of a chimney fire. He said they were able to get the fire out, although it smoked up the residence.

Approval was granted by the council for Mayor Tipton and City Clerk Hill to be named on the BBT account.

The council also agreed to publish a notice in the paper that the city has old lawn mowers for sale.

Mayor Tipton asked for a resolution to accept funding from the Kentucky Office of Homeland Security for a grant for $700 that will pay for new uniforms and jackets for the Ravenna Police Department.

Around the table, Tina Johnson said she has been asked if it is okay for an elected official to also work for the city. Mayor Tipton said she had checked on it and that it was okay.

Sharon Snowden said Kathy Collett had inquired if there has been any movement toward fixing the drain near her home. Mayor Tipton said she has been assured by the county that they will work on it as soon as the weather breaks.

The council thanked Larry Henry for the fish fry he prepared for them before the meeting.

Henry reminded the council that there will be a roadblock on April 4 from 9 a.m. to 12 p.m. to raise money for flags to place on Veteran's graves.

The next Ravenna City Council meeting will be on the second Monday of March at 6 p.m.

"Pharmacists are healthcare providers, public health professionals and each community's trusted access to the health system," stated Rear Admiral Scott F. Giberson, U.S. Assistant Surgeon General and Chief Professional Officer for Pharmacy in the U.S. Public Health Service. "I encourage you to continue your passion and dedication in public health throughout pharmacy practice, to be leaders for the profession, not of the profession, and most importantly to lead with integrity, service and excellence."

Brandenburg was recognized for her efforts to reach out to improve health care access in eastern Kentucky. Over the past two spring breaks, Brandenburg led an Operation Heart outreach effort in the eastern portion of the state. During Spring Break 2013, UK College of pharmacy students, faculty and alumni provided free health screenings at locations throughout the city of Hazard. During the three days spent in Hazard, Operation Heart student volunteers and preceptor advisors were able to screen about 300 patients for high blood pressure and elevated blood glucose. They provided total cholesterol and HDL readings for about 75 at-risk patients.

In March 2014, Operation Heart was at it again. This time, a team of students, pharmacy preceptors and alumni conducted blood pressure, blood glucose, and cholesterol screening in Morehead, Kentucky.

"As impressive as Teia's leadership was for health outcomes in Hazard, it was her dedication to learning from and bettering the program that shows her real potential for being a change agent," said UK College of Pharmacy Dean Tim Tracy. "In addition, I hope all pharmacists applaud her efforts to demonstrate the role that pharmacists and pharmacy students can have in disease prevention through community involvement, by providing counseling and education to all patients that were screened and many other individuals."

Senator Albert Robinson’s Legislative Update

by Senator Al Robinson

FRANKFORT, Ky. (Feb. 6, 2015) -The 2015 session continued last week, as the Senate and House convened on February 3, 2015. With deadlines approaching soon, the Senate held committee meetings throughout the day only stopping to go into session. Our priorities are the focus as we work to improve Kentuckians’ lives with quality jobs and quality education. On Thursday, Veterans, Military Affairs and Public Protection, the committee I chair, heard and reported a pro-life bill, Senate Bill 7, which passed the Senate Thursday. The legislation requires a face to face consultation with a physician and an ultrasound prior to an abortion procedure. This is a pro-life bill, and it also ensures the patient understands all of the risks of the procedure. Members of both caucuses came together in a bipartisan spirit to improve care for stroke victims in rural areas of Kentucky and promote preventive care for the deadly cardiovascular disease. The goal of the Senate Bill 10 is to continue the development of a stroke system of care in Kentucky that facilitates timely access to an appropriate level of care for stroke patients. This is especially critical for those of us that live in rural Kentucky where every second counts for a victim of a stroke.

It builds on 2010 legislation that required the state to recognize certified primary stroke centers. The 2010 legislation was introduced after a study showed Kentucky had the 12th highest rate for strokes in the nation with 2,500 people dying every year. Another health care related bill that passed was Senate Bill 6. This addresses the problem of frivolous lawsuits, which are costly and burdensome to medical and assisted living centers. The bill will implement medical review panels that independently review negligence and malpractice suits before they move to the court system. Medical practitioners will have more protection from unfounded suits which are costly and have a negative impact on their practice. Policy such as this will also aid in keeping sorely needed doctors in Kentucky. To help our schools meet their needs, the Senate also passed Senate Bill 9 which is the prevailing wage exemption bill. This measure exempts school construction projects from the state’s prevailing wage law. The prevailing wage law requires contractors to pay their workers a specified minimum wage rate for work on certain public construction projects. This legislation will decrease construction costs of elementary and secondary education buildings by 7.6 percent. Another important education bill passed to allow Charter Schools to be implemented. Senate Bill 8 bill will permit a maximum of five public charter schools in Jefferson and Fayette Counties so that their effectiveness can be measured before opening this option to the entire state. Charter schools increase student achievement and impact the achievement gap. These schools will enroll students eligible for free or reduced lunch and who are assigned to KDE identified Focus Schools. Charter schools have the ability to use innovative strategies to achieve educational goals and are not under the regulations of local and state school board regulations. The bill passed our chamber and now moves to the House for consideration. So far, this session has been busy as we work hard to meet the needs of Kentucky in the short session. Friday, February 6th was the final day for bill requests and February 13th is the last day for new legislation. You have a voice in Frankfort. I encourage you to express your support for any legislation that is important to you by calling 1-800-372-7181 and voicing your opinions.

During Farms to Food Banks Month, you can help Kentucky’s hungry--and Kentucky’s farmers

By Agriculture Commissioner
James Comer

When you donate a part of your state tax refund to the Farms to Food Banks Trust Fund, you’re helping Kentuckians in unfortunate circumstances - some of them your friends and neighbors - gain access to fresh, nutritious, local foods. You’re also helping Kentucky farmers make a living. It’s good for economic development, and it’s consistent with Kentucky values of compassion and generosity. A nonprofit that benefits from the trust fund, the Kentucky Association of Food Banks’ Farms to Food Banks program, pays farmers for produce that retailers don’t want because of minor blemishes or size discrepancies and distributes it to low-income Kentuckians to serve to their families. Farmers are able to generate revenue for product they would not have been able to sell otherwise, and healthy food is consumed rather than being plowed under in the field. The Farms to Food Banks program received a grant of $41,433 from the Kentucky Department of Agriculture in 2014 thanks to donations from individuals who designated a portion of their state income tax refund to the Farms to Food Banks Trust Fund. In 2014, 373 Kentucky farmers from 66 counties were paid an average of $1,450 for the produce they provided to the KAFB’s Farms to Food Banks program. More than 3 million pounds of Kentucky-grown fruits and vegetables were distributed to our hungry neighbors in all 120 counties rather than going to waste in the field. That is the equivalent of filling half a plate full of fruits and vegetables for 4.8 million meals. For more information about the Kentucky Association of Food Banks and its Farms to Food Banks program, go to www.kafb.org. In Kentucky, 1 in 6 of our neighbors - including nearly 1 in 4 children - is food insecure, which means they lack consistent access to enough nutritious food for an active, healthy life. In a state with abundant natural resources, a strong agriculture industry, and a rich food history, no one should go to bed hungry. As we commemorate Farms to Food Banks Month, I hope all Kentuckians will join me in donating a portion of your state tax refund to the Farms to Food Banks Trust Fund.

Annual Farm Show Celebrates 50 Years of Agriculture

Farms mark the rolling landscapes around our Commonwealth and farmers are as integral to the identity of Kentuckians as they are to the economic impact on our bottom line. Knowledge and wisdom about the land, about family and about commitment have been passed down through the generations around bushels of corn and bales of wheat. And maybe most importantly, the sunburned farmers and the crops they grow have a phenomenal influence on the calories we consume and the money we spend. Each February in Louisville, farmers, agribusiness executives and leaders in the field gather at the annual National Farm Machinery Show. Held at the Kentucky Exposition Center, the show addresses the challenges of farmers today and the value of the crops that are so important to us. This year, as we celebrate the 50th anniversary of the show, the show’s importance to the agriculture industry and the citizens of Kentucky still proves its worth. In February 1966, a few hundred farmers, salesmen and crop experts gathered in the then-named Kentucky Fair & Exposition Center to start a farm show. That year, commodity prices were high and farmers were feeding 90 percent of our nation. No one knew what the show could be or the impact it could have on future generations. At the opening address of the first annual National Farm Machinery Show, then-Governor Edward Breathitt remarked that the future of the show has “a myriad of other possibilities [for the] agricultural industry.” Foreshadowed by Breathitt, five decades later, more than 850 exhibitors from around the country will journey to Louisville to discuss, share and showcase the industry. This once-tiny farm show is now the nation’s largest indoor ag trade show and is the one of our most powerful tools to meet the needs of the industry. A recent analysis by the University of Kentucky College of Agriculture puts the total economic impact of agriculture production, inputs, processing, and manufacturing at nearly $46.3 billion and represents 263,000 jobs in Kentucky. Agriculture is Kentucky. And the National Farm Machinery Show is agriculture. Clifford “Rip” Rippetoe President and CEO of the Kentucky State Fair Board We invite you to join us Feb. 11-14 at the Kentucky Exposition Center in Louisville. Admission is free for the National Farm Machinery Show. Visit www.farmmachineryshow.org for more information.

Dr. Blackwell: A good country doctor

by Jerry Eltzroth CVT Contributor

Estill County folks were very hardy in the early late 1800’s and early1900’s. There was no electricity, running water and most transportation was by muscle power, either human or animal. There were no readily available hospitals, clinics or pharmacies. In sickness, country folk relied on hand-me-down remedies used by their ancestors. The medicines used consisted of herb concoctions processed from plants and minerals found in the fields, forests or springs. Witt Springs had a vital asset when the home remedies could not subdue the maladies. His name was Doctor James Benjamin Blackwell.

Dr. Blackwell was born March 28, 1860 in Madison County to William and Mary (Ward) Blackwell. The family moved to Estill County when James was quite young. The 1880 census documented that James was living with his parents in the Crooked Creek area as a farm laborer. Not long after the 1880 census he married Louisa Anna ‘Lucy’ McDowell on February 9, 1882. Lucy was a nickname according to a family member. Lucy was born on March 7, 1863. There is a handwritten note on file in the Estill County clerk’s office from her father granting permission for Lucy to marry, but obviously Lucy was not underage.

James and Lucy bought a small farm in 1896 where their old house still stands today on Sand Hill Rd. Their deed described the property as running with Cob Ford Rd., Pole Cat Rd., and “at a corner to W.P. Adams in Ran Patrick’s line” —nearly 35 acres. There was a log house on the property in which James and Lucy lived until the new house could be built. Another plot of land (10 acres) was purchased in 1901 from Charles and Mary Finney that obviously adjoined their original farm because the calls also refer to Cob Ford and Pole Cat Rd. Cob Ford Road is the old name for Sand Hill Road but I wish someone could explain to me where Pole Cat Road was located.

The 1900 Census listed James, Lucy and nine children living in the household. James and Lucy eventually had 12 children. They were Eva, Mary, James H., Vienna, Eugene, William (Willie), Louis, Leah, Elizabeth, John Wesley, Forest and Emanuel. The last three listed may not be in correct order of birth. Elizabeth died at a young age but the other children lived to be adults. The 1900 Census also listed James B’s occupation as “Physician”. At 14 James H. was listed as a “farmhand”.

Doctor Blackwell did not have the opportunity to graduate from medical school but did have some college instruction. He worked closely with several local doctors over the years and reached out for their advice in special cases. They included Dr. Edwards, Dr. Wallace, Dr. Broadus, and Dr. Lilly. He was recognized and respected by the medical community and held in high regard by those whom he served. His photograph hung beside other local physicians in the Estill County Clinic for many years. Records indicate that he was approved by the State Board of Health of Kentucky and was authorized to order medications for dispensing. He was an insightful and very caring person. Twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week he was on call to serve the ailing in his community.

Many babies in the Witt Springs area were delivered by Dr. Blackwell. Zelma Lee (Adams) Hall said she was one of his deliveries as was Elwood Gould. Emanuel Blackwell, Jr. told me that when they were going through his grandpa’s papers after his death they found a box containing hundreds of receipts documenting births. Jake Rose recalled that his brother Morris was delivered by Dr. Blackwell. Then when Morris passed away in 2011, Dr. Blackwell’s great grandson wrote Morris’s obituary at Toler Funeral Home.

During the early years of his practice, Dr. Blackwell rode by horseback or by horse and buggy to visit his patients. He served not only the Witt Springs community, but also other areas of Estill County. It was not uncommon for Dr. Blackwell to cross the Kentucky River at Cob Ford by horseback to care for the health of folks in the Fox and Palmer areas before the locks were built on the river. The February 11, 1909 edition of the Clay City Times stated, “Dr. Blackwell of Sand Hill was in Kimbrell last Tuesday to see the infant child of Morris Larison, who is very sick.” The March 2, 1909 edition of The Winchester News had this notice concerning Witt Springs, “Mrs. Joslie Brown had a very serious attack of stomach trouble last week, so serious that the attending physician, Dr. Blackwell, had Dr. Hugh Gibson of Richmond called to his aid. She is much better.” About 1934 when Agnes Moore was 9 years old, she was deathly ill. Her mother, Gussie Thomas, sent Chester, Agnes’ older brother, to fetch Dr. Blackwell. Agnes said that her brother got very angry because Dr. Blackwell could not keep up with him while walking the half-mile to their house. At that time Dr. Blackwell was nearly 75 years old. Another close neighbor was Ron Lutes’ great Grandma Patrick. Ron said that Dr. Blackwell would treat her with sugar pills for her hypochondriac condition. Dr. Blackwell was summoned to see her late one night because she was having a terrible spell. As usual, a couple of his sons trailed along with him. He took his medical bag with him and elaborated on how he got to her just in time. Dr. Blackwell mixed a white powder in water and his patient drank it down. In a few minutes he repeated the dose. Within 30 minutes Mrs. Patrick was sitting up and felt much better. On the way home one of his sons asked the doctor what he gave her. His reply was, “Baking soda.” Earl Blackwell remembered an old man telling him that “Dr. Blackwell was the best typhoid doctor” in these parts. Elwood Gould would visit Dr. Blackwell to seek treatment for childhood illnesses. Elwood asked for a wart to be removed from his finger. Dr. Blackwell rubbed the wart but never applied any medicine, as he mumbled some unintelligible words. The wart vanished within a few days. Anna Lee (Blackwell) Williams remembers her great Uncle ‘Buncombe’ (Bunc for short). Dr. Blackwell cared for her family’s health when they lived in Witt Springs. The thing she remembers the most is that she ran away from him when he tried to give her a shot.

Many of Dr. Blackwell’s patients were poor and unable to pay when services were rendered. They were given ample time to pay, or at times their debt was forgiven. Often times in those days of economic hardship, payment was rendered by giving Dr. Blackwell vegetables, blackberries, chickens or bartered services.

In 1923, Dr. Blackwell purchased a Model ‘T’ Ford for $452. In 1931, a 1925 Model ‘T’ replaced the 1923 model. He built a garage for the automobile and installed a large gasoline tank in order to have ample fuel on hand. Although Dr. Blackwell could operate the Model ‘T’, often one of his sons would drive him to visit his patients. Emanuel, Jr. said when he was 9 years old he would drive for his grandpa. Once when Dr. Blackwell was driving, he stopped in front of George Witt’s store and started racing the engine. Someone came out of store and said, “Bunk, you are going to blow that engine up!” Dr. Blackwell replied, “I just like to hear the dang thing cut out.” ‘Bunk’ was a nickname that many local people used when addressing Dr. Blackwell. Ron Lutes said that Emanuel Blackwell told him that at Halloween time the local boys would steal Dr. Blackwell’s ‘T’, drive it to a nearby lumber yard and put it on a stack of lumber as a prank. Dr. Blackwell installed a cow bell on the car to alert him if they tried that prank again. Bunk did not know that some of his sons were in on the joke. On their next car heist they held the clangor until they were out of range of Dr. Blackwell’s shotgun. Perhaps Dr. Blackwell was getting a little pay back since he was known to pull pranks on others. He had a humorous trait woven into his personality.

Barbara Ann (Blackwell) Shoemaker, Dr. Blackwell and Lucy’s granddaughter, shared the following insight about her grandparents. “Bunk and Lucy were a very special couple who served other people all their lives. On many Sunday afternoons, extended family members and friends would gather at their home for dinner. After dinner they would gather around their Adler pump organ and sing hymns. The love of music was passed on from one generation to another.”

Lucy was certainly an important asset to Dr. Blackwell and their family. She nurtured her 12 children as well as supervising the household, gardening and assisting with the farming duties. Many times patients timed their visits to see Dr. Blackwell during the noon hour. They knew that Lucy would have enough food cooked to feed anyone that came by and was hungry. Lucy would save her fat scraps from the meat so they could be rendered into soap. She would accumulate them in an old churn until she had enough for a rendering. Bunk would ‘borrow’ some of the scraps to feed to his dogs. Lucy thought a rat was getting into her stash of fat scraps so she put a trap in the churn. The next time Bunk reached into the churn the trap snapped on his fingers. The rat had been caught! At one time Lucy attended a local Baptist Church where they would occasionally hold a foot washing service. Lucy’s children always thought it queer that they had to wash their feet before attending that service.

Shortly after their 66th wedding anniversary Lucy fell in her yard on February 18, 1948 and sustained a broken hip. She was taken to St Joseph Hospital in Lexington. Following complications because of her broken hip, Lucy passed away at Pattie A. Clay Infirmary in Richmond on May 1, 1948 at the age of 85. Within 8 months Dr. Blackwell died at his home on December 29, 1948 at the age of 88. His death was attributed to a heart

Dr. Blackwell was handsome and had a commanding personality.

Dr. Blackwell and his wife, Lucy are pictured in their later years (1940’s).

Dr. James B. Blackwell's house has been listed by the Kentucky Heritage Council as a Kentucky Landmark and deemed worthy of preservation—signed by Governor Steve Beshear on April 28, 2009. The house is currently owned by Michelle (Blackwell) Long, Dr. Blackwell’s great granddaughter. She has taken excellent care of the old homestead located on Sand Hill Road.

Many of Dr. Blackwell’s personal medical items as well as his picture are on display in the Estill County Historical Society.

attack, but he had been suffering from diabetes for several years and had been critically ill for two weeks. Dr. Blackwell and Lucy were members of Sand Hill Christian Church. Their funerals were presided over by Rev. Isaac Spivey at the church. They were laid to rest in the Johnny Richardson Cemetery which lies in the middle of the Witt Springs area. After having served the local community for 52 years as a physician, it was only fitting that Dr. Blackwell be laid to rest near the folks to whom he had given so much.

When Katsy (Blackwell) Witt wrote to me and requested I write a story about her grandpa, Dr. Blackwell, all I knew about him was the stories my mother, grandmother and Lucy (Blackwell) Rose had related to me over the years. They always spoke of him with the greatest respect. Katsy got the ball rolling by having her sister Barbara Ann e-mail me with some excellent information about their grandpa, and put me in contact with some local grandchildren of Dr. Blackwell—Emanuel Blackwell, Jr. and Earl Blackwell. The people who knew Dr. Blackwell and Lucy personally are well up in their years now. Dr. Blackwell seems to have been forgotten at the Estill Clinic where his picture was previously displayed. There is no picture of him at Marcum Wallace Hospital. Thankfully, the Estill County Historical Society bought Dr. Blackwell’s small medicine case and many of his medicine bottles at the Blackwell auction several years ago. They are on display, along with Dr. Blackwell’s picture, at the Historical Society’s office on Broadway in Irvine. As Jake Rose said, “Dr. Blackwell was well respected and was a tremendous help to the poor people of Witt Springs and Estill County.” He deserves to be remembered in a more permanent way.

Linda C. White Mays, 76

Linda C. White Mays, 76, of Sanibel, Florida died on January 7, 2015 at Hope Hospice, Fort Myers comforted by her husband, Neil. Linda bravely faced cancer in her usual take-charge style and maintained her wonderful sense of humor throughout her illness. Linda was born in Manhattan, New York on April 7, 1938, the second child and only daughter of Siesel Edmund and Marie Teresa Canaday.

Linda attended Miss Harris' School for Girls in Miami, Florida, The Masters School in Dobbs Ferry, New York and graduated from Sweet Briar College in Sweet Briar, Virginia. Linda taught Kindergarten at Saint Anne's-Belfield School in Charlottesville, Virginia and The Lexington School in Lexington, Kentucky. Linda prided herself on being a rebel and always standing up for the underdog. She was passionate about and active in the civil rights movement during the 1960s and was instrumental in establishing a school for under privileged children in Lexington, Kentucky during that time.

She lived for many years in Lexington, Kentucky near the University of Kentucky campus where she drove cars full of neighborhood children to Spindletop pool in the summer and made the world's best Christmas cookies with them in the winter. She moved easily between her role as mother to her own children and surrogate mother to the many college students who found their way into her life during that time.

Linda left behind the comfort and familiarity of neighborhood life in Lexington to move to a farm in Estill County in the early 1970s. She loved rural life and loved Estill County, both the people and the land. She made great friends on Cressy Road and throughout the county. She raised milk cows, chickens, pigs, ducks, horses, and grew huge organic gardens. Linda's farm became an idyllic landing spot and temporary home for her friends and her children's friends.

In the 1980's she enrolled at the University of Kentucky to study horticulture and subsequently started Sundance Nursery, a specialty cut flower business and Christmas tree farm in Estill County with her husband, Neil.

Linda retired to Sanibel Island in 2001. She loved the beach and the wildlife on Sanibel; she loved to ride her bike. She had good friends and neighbors on Sanibel who enhanced her life in countless ways.

She is survived by her loving husband, Neil Paul Mays; her children, Margaret Page White of Sanibel Florida, Christopher Patrick White of El Cerrito, California, and Sullivan Canaday White of Lexington, Kentucky; her granddaughter, Isis Ferlo of Charleston, South Carolina; and her brother, Siesel E. "Bud" Canaday Jr. of Old Lyme, Connecticut. Linda was preceded in death by her parents and her brother Jakob P. Canaday.

A private memorial service is planned. Donations in Linda's name can be made to the Sanibel Captiva Conservation Foundation or the J.N. "Ding" Darling Wildlife Refuge.

KSP warns of phone scammers soliciting donations for fallen police officers

The Kentucky State Police is advising all citizens to beware of phone scams requesting financial donations for fallen police officers.

KSP Post 16 in Henderson has documented a number of people who reported receiving calls from someone who states he is with KSP or another police professional fundraiser. His goal is to try to obtain donations (credit or bank card information) for fallen officers who have died in the line of duty. When asked for more information about his authenticity, he hangs-up. Complainants advise the caller may identify himself as "Rick" and calls from a 270 area code.

The investigation is in its early stages, but this number is likely a Skype account originating overseas. KSP does not and will not ask anyone for any banking or personal information.

(Although KSP is currently involved in raising funds for a fallen trooper memorial, it does not engage in cold call telemarketing activities.)

KSP recommends treating every solicitation call as a scam until proven otherwise. The best and proper way to determine the legitimacy of a charitable organization is to check with the Kentucky Attorney General's office by calling 502-696-5300 or visiting their website at: ag.ky.gov <<http://ag.ky.gov>>. By law, every charitable organization must be registered with the AG's office.

The Better Business Bureau may also be a viable option to check as well. It also should be noted that it is illegal for any lottery and/or a sweepstakes to request that you send money (for any reason). Furthermore, all foreign lotteries and/or sweepstakes are illegal.

BBB tips: protect yourself from a data breach

It seems like every day there is a new data breach. The latest involves health insurance company, Anthem. According to the company, as many as 80 million customers had their account information stolen. Hackers gained access to names, birthdays, medical IDs, Social Security numbers, addresses, e-mail addresses, and employment information – including income data. This could lead to identity theft.

Here are tips from the BBB on how to protect yourself from a data breach:

- Monitor your accounts regularly.
- Check every charge on your statements: Scammers often test cards with smaller charges before racking up large bills. Confirm each charge on your account line by line.
- Call your bank: Tell them you were a customer at the breached institution. If your card was affected, the bank might contact you first to issue a new card.
- Sign up for alerts: Most banks allow customers to set email or text alerts for transactions over a set value. Notifications make it easier to keep tabs on your account.
- Accept or enroll in free identity protection services that breached companies offer you: This has become standard practice among breached companies.
- Request a 90-day fraud alert:

If your Social Security number was stolen in a breach, ask the credit bureaus to put a note on your file so creditors know to further verify the identity of any individual who attempts to open new accounts or take other actions under your name. Notify one of the three major bureaus — Experian, Equifax, or TransUnion, and it will tell the others. This is not as effective as a security freeze.

• Get a security freeze:

A freeze will put your information on lockdown, meaning the credit bureaus can't give it out without your permission. In the event that your Social Security number was stolen, it's another worthwhile precaution. A security freeze will not impact your credit score or impair your ability to use your existing credit cards. It locks down your credit reports that are used to determine your credit worthiness. When on a freeze, opening new credit will require some minimal advanced planning. To be effective, a freeze must be set up with all three credit bureaus

Transunion: <https://freeze.transunion.com>

Equifax: <https://www.freeze.equifax.com>

Police Beats

Irvine Police Department

2-3 Thomas A. Richardson, 44, of 4640 Barnes Mountain Road, was arrested after IPD Officer Karl Rifenbark responded to a call at 517 Cantrill Street about a man fighting with his daughter and her boyfriend. Officer Rifenbark found Richardson being held down by Johnathon Ballard and another male in the yard. Richardson screamed and cursed and became violent with Officer Rifenbark, according to the police report, and Rifenbark said he had to wrestle with Richardson to get the handcuffs on him. Richardson threatened to whip the men. He smelled strongly of alcohol and had very slurred speech. He stated that when he gets out of jail, he is going to go "stomp a mudhole" in Johnathon Ballard. Ballard and the other male were allegedly only holding Richardson to keep him from physically harming them until the police arrived. Richardson was charged with alcohol intoxication and resisting arrest, as well as menacing and disorderly conduct.

2-3 Carl Fox, 52, of 113 Oak Street, was served an emergency protective order on February 2, 2015 by IPD Officer Karl Rifenbark. The EPO restrained him from being at the above residence, but the petitioner of the EPO called 911 stating that Fox was inside the residence on February 3. Chief Brad Smith and searched the residence and did not find Fox. They parked their vehicle nearby and the petitioner called again that Fox was now there. When the officers returned, they found Fox going up the stairs. He was arrested and smelled strongly of alcohol, the report said. Fox was charged with violating a Kentucky EPO.

2-5 Regina G. Arvin, 46, address unknown, was arrested after Irvine Police Chief Brad Smith responded to a call that a woman from Plum Street had stolen items from a residence on North Madison Avenue. When Smith contacted the woman, he noticed she had slurred speech, pin-point pupils, and was very unsteady on her feet, according to the police report. Smith located hydrocodone pills on Arvin that were not in a prescription container. The prescription was filled on February 2, 2015 for 50 pills, but on February 5 there were only three pills remaining, the report said. Arvin was charged with public intoxication with a controlled substance and possessing a prescription controlled substance not in the original container.

Man clobbers vehicle, runs into woods

An Estill County man has been served a warrant for an incident that occurred in March, 2014.

According to the warrant, Sheriff's Deputy Randy Farthing stated that Jeffrey Scott Estes, 31, of 5050 Crooked Creek Road, "intentionally and wantonly" damaged Ronnie Abney's vehicle by hitting it several times with a stick, resulting in approximately $1,200 in damages.

Farthing stated that when he arrived on the scene at the Stop and Shop parking lot, the defendant was under the influence of a controlled substance, and he was screaming, yelling, making threats and attempting to fight others, causing a disturbance. Farthing also stated that he placed the defendant under arrest, but while he was dealing with others on the scene Estes escaped from custody. He was ordered by Farthing to stop several times, but Estes continued to flee, running into nearby woods.

Managing Creepy Crawlies in your home

Chelsea Bicknell
UK Family & Consumer Sciences Agent

Many species of insects and spiders make their homes in Kentucky. Sometimes, they wander into our homes as well. Luckily, most of these creatures are not harmful to people or to property, so there is little need to worry about them. However, a few can damage our homes, eat our food, or even deliver dangerous bites.

On Monday, February 16, at 2 p.m. join us at the Estill County Extension Office for “Managing Creepy Crawlies in Your Home”. Madison County FCS Agent, Gina Noe, will discuss how to tell the “bad bugs” from the harmless ones. We will also share a few basic steps you can take to detect the most common indoor pests and how to prevent problems before they happen. A few examples of these pests include bed bugs, termites, and cockroaches.

Bed bugs are now common in Kentucky, especially in multi-unit structures such as hotels, apartment buildings, dormitories, and other buildings where many people come and go. Bed bugs can cause painful bites, and their presence can bring stress and significant expense to a household. Bed bugs can be difficult to detect. Once detected, professional services will be needed to control and rid the home of the pests. Like bed bugs, termites can also be difficult to detect. Most termites in Kentucky live in forests. There they perform a valuable service—turning dead trees back into soil. They become pests when they discover and begin feeding on our homes. Termites are especially drawn to moist areas around buildings—such as from leaky faucets, dampness, and poor drainage. The good news about termites is that they do their damage very slowly. If you suspect that your home is infested with termites, call a pest control professional. The occasional cockroach shows up in most homes from time to time. Oftentimes these are outdoor dwelling varieties originating from mulch and wood in the landscape, and they are nothing to worry about. Large infestations of German or American cockroaches, however, can contaminate food, spread harmful bacteria and potential disease pathogens, and even cause or worsen respiratory illnesses. Fortunately, effective products are available to combat roach infestations. Cockroaches and many of the other pests that may create problems in your home can be prevented or reduced by following a few simple steps.

- Sanitation - Remove spilled food and dispose of garbage quickly.
- Crack and crevices - Seal cracks and crevices around your home.
- Doors and windows - Keep doors and windows closed.
- Water - Fix any leaks, unclog gutters, and improve drainage around your home.

To learn more about these or other insect and spider pests that may infest your home call 606-723-4557 to register for the program, “Managing Creepy Crawlies in Your Home”. This program is free and open to anyone and everyone, but call to reserve your seat and handouts.

An Encouraging Word: Lest we Forget

By Howard Coop

During my childhood and youth, February 12 was a significant national holiday observed by everyone I knew. But it was more than a holiday; it was a time to remember and be thankful for an outstanding leader who possessed the moral courage to do what he knew to be right. Although February 12 is no longer a legal holiday, we can, on that day, remember, respectfully, the birthday of Abraham Lincoln, the unusual man that he was, and the significant contribution he made to our nation.

Born on February 12, 1809 in a one-room log cabin on a farm beside Sinking Creek near Hodgenville in what is now LaRue County, the rail-splitter became the sixteenth President of the United States in 1860 at a crucial time in American history. Consequently, that common man, in an uncommon way, led the nation through the Civil War that has come to be known as the nation's "bloodiest war, and it greatest moral, constitutional, and political crisis." Through that crisis and without regard for public opinion and political pressure, Lincoln stood steadfast for what he believed was morally right, and he did what he could to hold the nation together and bind up its wounds. As a result of his efforts, a nation, deeply divided by strong feelings rooted in conflicting ideologies and political persuasions, remained united and healing occurred. His leadership during that crucial period of American history is credited with preserving "the Union, abolishing slavery, strengthening the government, and modernizing the economy," quite an accomplishment for a self-educated backwoodsman from the hills of Kentucky.

Lest we forget, times like these demand more than moral equivocation and political posturing to gain favor. As Josiah Gilbert Holland wrote, "A time like this demands strong minds, great hearts, true faith, and ready hands" from men and women who "have honor" and "will not lie." The need is for leaders who have strength of character that is grounded in proven principles that are morally right even though they may not appear to be politically correct.

Failure of the purchaser to effect such insurance coverage shall not affect the validity of the sale or the purchaser's liability thereunder, but shall entitle, but not require, any part adjudicated an interest in the real estate, after giving notice to the Master Commissioner, to effect said insurance and furnish evidence of the policy to the Master Commissioner. The premium of the insurance policy shall then be charged to the purchaser as purchaser's cost.
4. In the event the Plaintiff becomes the purchaser of the real estate at the Master Commissioner's sale, and if the Plaintiff's bid is less than its lien adjudged herein, Plaintiff may comply with the terms of sale by taking credit upon its Judgment without making the cash deposit or executing the sale bond as provided for in this Judgment.

Flynn reaches 3,000

by Andrew Hatton
CVT Sports Writer

Senior Kennedy Flynn reached a career milestone on Monday night, scoring her 3,000th point of her career. Flynn is the first player in Estill County Basketball history to achieve this feat.

The Lady Engineer point-guard has been the offensive catalyst for most of her high-school career, averaging over 600 points in each of her seasons. Flynn became the first Estill County player to reach 2,000 points last year.

The senior remains humble through all of her accolades though, tweeting out “Blessed beyond belief” last night following the game. Flynn appeared to blush through most of her acknowledgement, and even appeared to shrug it off as ‘no big deal’.

The great achievement came in a loss though, which made for a perfect display of Flynn’s true character. Rather than gloating about her accomplishments, the senior was visibly angry after the game about the team’s overtime loss.

Greg Flynn, Kennedy’s father, was heard after the game saying, “Does that look like the face of someone who just scored her 3,000th point?”

Flynn is driven by her desire to win, but she longs for team-achievements over individual accolades. This competitive spirit is what truly drove her to put in the work she needed to become the player capable of reaching this milestone.

This level of commitment and desire should stand as an example for young people in this county as a blueprint for achieving one’s goals.

Congratulations, Kennedy! We’re proud of you.

Lady Engineers defeat Lee County

by Andrew Hatton
CVT Sports Writer

The Lady Engineers took down the Lady Kats on Friday night, 59-49, giving Estill their third district win of the season. The crucial win was sandwiched in between some tough home losses, two of which Estill lost by just one point. Kennedy Flynn, who scored 32 points on the night, led Estill over Lee, avenging their loss from early December. Sophomore Sidney Danyeur came up big as well, dropping a double-double for the Lady Engineers, scoring 12 and grabbing 10 boards.

Perhaps the most impressive effort of the week came in a loss to Menfee County on Feb. 4. Estill battled back from a double-digit deficit with a valiant effort in the third quarter. Coach Hall’s squad outscored Menfee 35 to 20 in the second half, but ultimately fell short, losing 60-59.

Flynn once again led the team in scoring with 33, followed by Bethany Hall who put up 15 points and 9 rebounds on the night.

Estill wasn’t quite finished with the close losses, falling to Harrison County in overtime, 46-45. The loss may have put a bit of a damper on the festivities following Kennedy Flynn scoring her 3,000th point during the game, but the Lady Engineers once again displayed their never-say-die mentality.

Despite trailing at halftime, Estill battle back and even took a late lead. A Harrison County three in the final seconds of regulation tied the game up sending it into overtime. Estill was unable to capture victory, but definitely made their opponents earn the win.

Although losses are tough to handle in the moment, Coach Hall’s squad can take pride in their resiliency and ability to turn a seemingly sure-loss into a dogfight.

The Lady Engineers currently sit at 13-12 on the season with four regular season games remaining. Estill’s next opponent is a Jackson City squad with a record of 14-10. The upcoming game is at home on Feb. 12, tipping off at 7:30 p.m.

Coach Mike Jones and Trevor Jones Receive IIIA Honors

ECHS Students

Coach Mike Jones and Senior Trevor Jones were named IIIA Coach of the Year and Player of the Year, respectively. Coach Jones has been coaching at ECHS since 1990, but he has been playing football for about 17 years. The influence other coaches had on him made him want to coach. But the last four years have been different for him because he has had the opportunity to coach his son Trevor. Coach Jones said, “I am 100 times harder on him. I try to be calm with him and prepare him to further his football career.”

Apparently he has done

just that.

Trevor Jones was voted IIIA player of the year. Football is definitely in his blood. According to Jones’s father, he would carry around a football as a baby, and he has been playing football since he was 6 years old. Trevor says he has enjoyed having his dad coach him.

“It was great and definitely an advantage for me to be a better player,” he said.

His most memorable moment was his Senior year football season with a record of 9-3. Jones said, “Receiving IIIA Player of the Year was a huge honor. I was excited to know all of the hard work has paid off with the biggest award I have received.”

Jones’s biggest win of the season was 62-6 against Powell County.

Athletic Director Arthur Ballard, was very proud of each of their accomplishments. He said the honors are “very deserved.”

“These awards were voted on by coaches from Belfry, Garrard, Western Hills, Bourbon, Powell, and Bath County.”

Ballard says he hopes they have “continued success” in upcoming seasons. He expects them to rebuild a little after losing a very good senior class, but he has high hopes for the ‘Neers and hopes they continue to work hard.

Taylor Tate signs to play with UPike

On the field and off, teammates have experienced highs and lows together

Trevor Jones, #2, and Taylor Tate, #24, began playing flag football together at a young age. Since then, they have weathered many ups, downs, and injuries as teammates and friends.

training finally paid off. I never wanted to quit. My sophomore year when I tore my ACL I thought I would never play again, but here I am today a Pikeville Bear. If it wasn't for Momma and all the summers working with my dad I wouldn't have been able to make it where I am. Football has taught me that teamwork and family are the most important things in life. Football teaches you a lot about life."

Tate hopes that his story is proof to other kids you should never quit following your dream and always believe in yourself. The possibilities are endless when you don't give up.

Jones stated, "It was a relief just to get signing day over. It was a weight lifted off of me. Choosing where I would spend the next four years of my life was a big decision. I wanted to make sure wherever I went was the right place for me. I went with my heart. I went to Morehead for an overnight visit and I really felt at home. I really liked the coaches there and their conference. It was a dream and I wanted to follow in my dad's footsteps. I want to get a good education and I love the game so this was a win-win situation. My injury during my sophomore year took me 9 months to recover. It was a lot to overcome making sure I was back if not better than I was before my injury. But I did it and now I get to play college football. I can't give enough thanks to all the coaches that have invested in me. Without all my coaches and my family's support I couldn't have done it. Football has given me so much. It has taught me how to deal with adversity. Life is always changing and football has helped structure me into dealing with adversities."

Amy Marshall, Taylor Tate's mom, said, "Taylor has loved football from the time he could walk. He has always been determined, not just in football but with anything in his life. If he wanted to learn how to do something, he would not give up. He would pick himself up and try again until he got it right. I know this is his dream and it has taken a lot of blood, sweat and tears (from mom too) to get here. It means more to me than anything that he is going to be able to live out his dream. I see him playing for as long as he can and when that's over, whenever that may be, I see him coaching."

Marshall went on to say "Taylor and Trevor have been best friends since flag football. I love Trevor as a son. They have always loved playing together. They have made a lot of memories. Now they have a chance to make more. Pikeville has played against Morehead the last 2 years. It is not on the schedule for this upcoming year, but it is a possibility they will have to play against each other."

Estill County High School Head Football Coach Mike Jones proudly believes "Trevor may be arguably the best athlete to ever play at Estill County High School. He is the best I have coached at the high school or college level. He is a fighter too. People may have forgotten he lost his entire sophomore season to a knee reconstruction. Many players would not have even attempted to play again. His real work will start now (at Morehead State). If he keeps developing and stays healthy, the sky is the limit. I will miss him badly. It's hard to know what to do with myself with him moving on. I am very proud of what he has accomplished despite the adversity. I am very proud of Taylor too. He also battled back from a serious injury. This is crucial because he knows the struggle. He will fit well at Pikeville. Taylor has worked hard to put himself in this position."

Coach Austin Moore coached Jones and Tate at the high school and middle school level. He said "Trevor and Taylor have both been great representatives of Estill County throughout their careers at Estill County High School. It was a joy to watch two friends grow together, and push each other to new heights throughout the peaks and valleys that came throughout their football careers. We have all been very blessed to watch their development as student athletes, as well as fine young men over the past number of years. Their signings to play football at the next level comes with much joy, pride, and excitement as they take their talents to the collegiate level. Go Bears, and Go Eagles!"

Estill County High School Football Offensive Coordinator Drew Barnett stated, "I want to say congratulations to both. It has been an honor and a privilege working with Trevor and Taylor as a coach and a person. Success is never easy and never given. Hard work is an attribute that many do not have and they (Tate and Jones) should take pride in this, as it will help them accomplish things on and off the field. I hope they will continue to believe in themselves and never settle."

I have had the privilege of watching these young men grown up. They have always stayed the course and congratulations is in order for them both. I can't wait until next season to report their progress. Maybe in four years, Estill Count will have 2 more players invited to a professional combine.

We will talk about that next week! Is it time for football yet?

Engineers sweep District in regular season

by Andrew Hatton
CV&T Sportswriter

The Engineers defeated Lee County on Friday night by a score of 72-35. The win kept Estill perfect in district play on the season. Coach Bentley's squad will be the 1-seed at this year's district tournament and the clear favorite to take home the championship.

Senior Trevor Jones led Estill over the Bobcats, scoring 28 points on the night. Jones scored the game's first 10 points, setting the tone before Lee could even get on the board. From that point on the result was never really in question.

The game was a great opportunity for the coaching staff to give the reserves some work, allowing several players to log some varsity minutes. Many of these bench players had rarely seen time on the court this season. Overall, Estill had 12 different scorers on the night.

The victory over Lee took the Engineers to 14-9 on the year, as they head into the final two weeks of the regular season. With six games left, Estill must continue to eliminate their deficiencies in order to make a strong run in the postseason.

An emphasis appears to have been placed on winning the turnover battle, as the Engineers continue to force turnovers on defense, but also be more careful in possession than they were early on in the season. Ball movement does appear to stall at times, causing the offense to become stagnate. If Estill can fight off these tendencies, they could be a dangerous opponent going forward.

Estill faces two tough road tests this weekend, as they travel to Berea on Friday night and then head to Somerset just a day later. It's time for the Engineers to buckle-down and build momentum with the post-season looming.

Middle School boys wrap up impressive season

The Estill County Middle School 6th Grade Boys Basketball Team just completed a great season. They finished the season 25-3 and finished runners up in the Commonwealth Conference which is made up of Estill, Madison and Rockcastle County Middle Schools.

They only lost one regular season conference game to Clark Moores. Clark Moores and Estill only had one loss in the conference to each other. Clark Moores beat Estill by more than they beat them so they ended up winning the regular season even though each team had only loss in the conference. Estill put up a hard fight but ended up losing to Clark Moores in the conference finals and ended up runners up in the Commonwealth Conference.

Early on in the season they lost to a big Wolfe County team by 1 point.

Great season Estill County 6th grade boys; looking forward to see what all you boys accomplish in the future.
